

SPECIAL ISSUE OF SOCIO.HU ON

THE FACES OF KNOWLEDGE IN SOCIETY

---

socio.hu, a peer-reviewed journal published quarterly by the Institute of Sociology, Centre for Social Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences, seeks submissions for a special (English language) issue of the journal devoted to knowledge in society. We invite contributions on all topics related to knowledge in the broadest sense, and we especially welcome submissions that are both substantive and methodological in nature.

'Knowledge' in this context can be interpreted as ranging from the most abstract knowledge current in sciences to the non-verbal attainment of social skills. While this multi-faceted notion is within the scope of highly sophisticated theoretical questions, the authors could conceptualize it as a tool for empirically testable research, too.

Potential topics include:

- critical analysis of social inequalities in contemporary societies;
- sociological research findings on education;
- social studies of sciences, culture or media;
- studying the effects of new communication technology on social relationships.

Deadline for submitting abstracts: 16 June, 2013 (max. 250 words)

Selection of abstracts: 23 June, 2013

Deadline for submitting the full article: 30 September, 2013

(in English, 5,000–8,000 words, .doc or .rtf format, using the Harvard Reference System).

Expected publication date: December, 2013

All papers will be double-blind peer reviewed. Only original scientific articles will be considered.

The acceptance of an abstract does not guarantee the publication of the article.
