

Reflection on The 6th Next-Generation Global Workshop

ZAPPA Marco, Ca' Foscari University of Venice

As a freshman of international conferences and workshops, I received and a lot of positive feedback from students and professors that will hopefully help me in better development of my research. The comments from the professors were the most valuable. I hope that the collaboration between my university and Kyoto University will continue in the future. Discussion and comments with and by colleagues and scholars are the most beneficial one.
